

Using Citations and References

Using Citations and References to Find Sources

You can use citations within the text of a book or article to find additional sources.

A citation may contain an author, date, and page number. Example:

Citations

Consultation by professional school counselors is an effective, preventive intervention to enhance overall academic achievement, increase self-esteem in students, and improve classroom management skills (Bundy & Poppen, 1986; Cecil & Cobia, 1990; ASCA, 2005a). Helping children with learning and/or behavioral difficulties, assisting individual children with special needs, developing appropriate learning activities, and encouraging a productive classroom environment are fundamental roles for professional

---

Citation Points to The Reference

Each citation in the text points to an entry in the References section. Example:

Consultation by professional school counselors is an effective, preventive intervention to enhance overall academic achievement, increase self-esteem in students, and improve classroom management skills (Bundy & Poppen, 1986; Cecil & Cobia, 1990; ASCA, 2005a). Helping children with learning and/or behavioral difficulties, assisting individual children with special needs, developing appropriate learning activities, and encouraging a productive classroom environment are fundamental roles for professional

Reference

- Education Sciences, U.S. Department of Education. Retrieved from <http://nces.ed.gov/pubsearch/pubsinfo.asp?pubid=2009064>.
- Catsambis, S., & Beveridge, A. A. (2001). Does neighborhood matter? Family, neighborhood, and school influences on eighth-grade mathematics achievement. Social Focus, 34, 435–457.
- Cavanaugh, D. A., & Doucette, A. (2004). Using administrative data to access the process of treatment services for adolescents with substance use disorders. Journal of Psychoactive Drugs, 36(4), 473–482.
- Cecil, J. H., & Cobia, D. C. (1990). Educational challenge and change. In H. Hackney (Ed.), Changing contexts for counselor preparation in the 1990s (pp. 21–36). Alexandria, VA: Association for Counselor Education and Supervision.
- Cedar, B., & Levant, R. F. (1990). A meta-analysis of the effects of parent effectiveness training. Journal of Consulting and Clinical Psychology, 60, 56–63.
- Center for Community Solutions. (2008). School-based mental health tool kit for Cuyahoga County school districts. Cleveland, OH: Author.

Using Citations and References

How Do I Use a Reference?

The reference has all the information you need to go find the book, article, etc.

References for Books, journal articles, web pages, etc., each have different sets of information that describe them.